

WEATHER COOL AND ALSO COMFORTABLE

Maximum Temperature Is 86 Degrees, but Refreshing Breeze Prevails.

THURSDAY TEMPERATURES.
Maximum 86 degrees
Minimum 54 degrees
Forecast—Fair.

The weather warmed up again to a marked degree Thursday, but nevertheless the day was a comfortable one, and Zionites appreciated the fact, as was made evident by the throng of pedestrians seen on the streets. Dr. Hyatt says the mercury reached a maximum of 86 degrees, and although it was real hot in the sun, in the shade it was quite cool. A cool breeze also prevailed.

Thursday, low barometric pressure extended over the south plateau, British Columbia and the South Atlantic coast. Over the middle of the Rocky mountain slope and lake region the air pressure was high. This distribution of barometric pressure caused showers or thunder storms over portions of Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Missouri, Minnesota, British Northwest Territory and Atlantic States, with heavy rainfall at Charleston, S. C., 1.15 inches, and Boston, Mass., 1.12 inches. The temperature changes were slight except a rise of 19 degrees or more at Boise, Kamloops and St. Louis, and a corresponding fall at Charleston, North Platte, Denver and Calgary.

The high pressure over this section will cause continued fair weather Friday in this locality. Thursday's meteorological record at the local station of the United States weather bureau for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m. was as follows:
Temperature at 6 p. m., 82 degrees.
Maximum temperature, 86 degrees.
Minimum temperature, 54 degrees.
Mean temperature, 70 degrees, which is 1 degree below normal.
Total deficiency of temperature since the first of the month, 17 degrees.
Accumulated deficiency of temperature since January first, 288 degrees.
Total precipitation since the first of the month, 1.36 inches, which is .70 of an inch above the normal.
Accumulated excess since January 1, 2.49 inches.

TRAINS WILL SOON BE RUNNING INTO WELLS

Western Pacific Tracks Are Now Within Short Distance of Nevada Town.

Railroad men returning from Wells say that the tracks of the Western Pacific will be into Wells before the middle of September. Soon after the tracks reach this city, train service will be instituted. Wells is rather an important point on the Western Pacific, in that it is the point where it meets the Southern Pacific.

Wednesday the track laying gang was within fifteen miles of the city. The grade has already been completed. The track laying gang is putting down the iron bands at the rate of one and a quarter miles a day. At this rate it will be less than two weeks before Wells is reached over the Western Pacific.

The grade of the Western Pacific has been completed from Wells to Death, except for a strip ten miles long. But one grading ought to be done on this piece, and it will keep the graders busy to get out of the way of the track layers.

SHONTS THINKS MUCH

DEPENDS ON WHAT HE SAYS

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—"We haven't spent a dollar that we were not obliged to spend during the year, and our future expenditures will depend entirely on how the country is going to treat the railroads," said Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Alton & Clover Leaf railroads, last night, when questioned concerning what the railroads would do in the way of employing men and contributing to the prosperity of the country.

Mr. Shonts is here on a tour of inspection. "We haven't laid a ton of steel during the year," Mr. Shonts continued. "It is true I bought 1000 steel cars for the Alton, but we had to have them. On Friday, at the gathering in Casterville, I, my native town, I am going to make a speech giving my views on how the railroads ought to be treated. I tell you the future of the country depends much on this statement."

LOS ANGELES JOBBERS' PROTEST NOW ON FILE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A note of protest against the imposition of switching charges is found in a complaint filed by the Associated Jobbers at Los Angeles against the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroads with the Interstate Commerce commission today. The complaint contends that the switching charges are unjust, unlawful, excessive, discriminatory and void, and asks that the commission require the discontinuance of such charges and compel the railroads to cease enforcing exorbitant tariffs and to fix a reasonable rate for switching charges. It also asks that the commission decide that any of the roads may have the right to make any such change.

STORIES OF THE STAGE HOLDUP IN YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

The first victims of the hold-up in Yellowstone park last Monday arrived in Salt Lake City enroute to their homes Thursday. With them came a possible explanation of the reason why the robber made his attempt on the particular day that he did. But not all the travelers agreed on the number of coaches held up. One placed the number at eight, and the other at seventeen.

Dr. O. S. Brown of Riverside, company physician of the Santa Fe at Victor, Ariz., arrived in Salt Lake City and stopped at the Cullen for about four hours. Charles Evers, tourist in charge of the Montana Yellowstone Stage company, who came through with several of the victims, but who was not in the hold-up, arrived in the city and stopped at the Kenyon. F. H. Gaskins and his step-father, B. Drew, arrived in the city and secured mail which had been addressed to them at the Knutsford, but took the evening train for the east.

Mr. Dower, Mr. Gaskins and Mr. Drew insist that there were but eight stages involved in the hold-up. Dr. Brown, who is accompanied by his wife and three children, and who is likewise corroborated by this array, declares that eight stages were held up, then four more were allowed to pass, and the last nine to go over the road that day were also taken in. Mr. Brown also declares that an army paymaster went through in one of the first stages that was not molested, with $4000, the monthly payroll. He was dressed in citizen's clothes, as were the armed guards that sat beside him. It is said by those at the camps in the park that the robber expected to secure the paymaster's money. As proof they cite his contemptuous treatment of Major Smith, S. G. Sowards, Stevens, Evans, C. Williams, Ida M. Wells.

At the command to "Cough Up," the major passed over a wallet containing about $100 and a $100 watch. Mr. Robber tried to look a hole through the major, and then sneeringly asked for "the rest of it." But the major couldn't come through.

One girl had a glass pin, worth 15 cents, which she begged to be permitted to keep to jolly the robbers, but she was insisted that he must have it. Another girl wore a gold ring, which the robber attempted to tear from her finger. He kindly desisted when her sister declared, with tears, that her father had given it to the sister who she was baby and that he had passed away. The father had passed away all right, but he had given that watch about four stages—four lengths away and sat looking back to see if any harm came to his daughters. The robber ordered one girl to take off her gloves, but she saucily replied, "not on your life." She still has the gloves.

The jolly spirit of Americans showed itself next morning when the penalties borrowed from those about the hold-up had hidden their money. With much of the money, a fund to publish a little booklet telling of the robbery. A picture of the hold-up, taken by the Lone Star Involuntary Benevolent association was formed. Each member of the association was given a picture which posed at the hotel next day. A register of every one who passed over the road was kept. The association, which was organized by the association, a list was made of the missing property. The first eight stage loads showed a loss of $1200, and between $600 and $700 in jewelry. From the six Wyle coaches that were held up the robber showed a loss of $1200, and between $600 and $700 in jewelry. From the six Wyle coaches that were held up the robber showed a loss of $1200, and between $600 and $700 in jewelry.

COMMISSION ORDERS SWEEPING REDUCTIONS

Fifty-Nine Railroads Instructed to Reduce Rates on Range Cattle Shipments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A sweeping reduction of one-half to five cents per hundred pounds on range cattle shipments, to be carried into effect by October 15, is made in an order issued today by the interstate commerce commission in the case of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas against the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, and fifty-eight other common carriers. The reduction carries out the commission's condemnation last spring of the railroad advances in rates. The rates ordered cut today are on range cattle from points in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma to northern ranges in Wyoming, Nebraska, South Dakota and Montana, and on cattle in carloads from the Southwest to Chicago, East St. Louis, St. Joseph, St. Louis, Kansas City, New Orleans and Omaha.

The railroads are also ordered to substitute a terminal charge of not exceeding $1 per car for their present $2 terminal charge for the delivery of live stock at the Union stock yards in Chicago.

SIX NEW ENGINES FOR DENVER & RIO GRANDE

New equipment on the Denver & Rio Grande is expected to arrive in the city within the next week or ten days. This includes a total of six freight engines of the latest design. They were made at the Schenectady Locomotive works. The engines are known on the road as the 1100 type, this being the serial number of the engines of this type. The engines have just been received from the shops at Denver, after being loaded. Each engine weighs 250,000 pounds. The locomotives were put to work at Denver and are now en route hauling long freight trains.

SUPERINTENDENT DAVIS RETURNS FROM PORTLAND

General Superintendent J. M. Davis of the Oregon Short Line returned to Salt Lake City Thursday morning from Portland, where he had been attending a conference of all superintendents of the system. The session lasted two weeks.

Mr. Davis noted a considerable growth in the construction of new residences during the year, and was particularly great in the construction of new residences.

DENVER CITY TRAMWAY CO. AUTHORIZES BOND ISSUE

DENVER, Aug. 27.—The stockholders of the Denver City Tramway company, at a meeting held Thursday morning, authorized the issue of $2,500,000, of which $1,000,000 will be used to retire the outstanding bonds of the company, and the remainder placed in the treasury and issued as needed for further extensions and improvements.

The jolly spirit of Americans showed itself next morning when the penalties borrowed from those about the hold-up had hidden their money. With much of the money, a fund to publish a little booklet telling of the robbery. A picture of the hold-up, taken by the Lone Star Involuntary Benevolent association was formed. Each member of the association was given a picture which posed at the hotel next day. A register of every one who passed over the road was kept. Miss Emma Lucy Gates will produce a musical and historical headpiece when she appears in the Yvette Guilbert costume at her recital, September 2, in the Theatre. Satin brocade, rich enough to stand alone, as our mothers used to describe it, the dress being over one hundred years old, and owned by a member of the Wells family, priceless Florentine lace, loaned by Mrs. Priscilla Jennings; shell comb and long earrings, once the treasures of Mrs. Barrett; side curls, all her own; crinoline, and the Guilbert short white gloves, as the only covering for the hands, white arms; these details will go to make up a fascinating replica of both Yvette Guilbert and of a society belle of the French period over a hundred years ago.

SALT LAKERS HEAVY LOSERS

Salt Lakers are reported to have lost pretty heavily. John Y. Rich of Salt Lake City deposited $300 in the four name Joseph Geoghegan left $50, and A. E. Hutchinson left a similar amount. Mr. Drew lost $100. Mr. Gaskins had the distinction of carrying the sack for the burglar. By the time Mr. Gaskins had traveled down the creek, the sack was full of money. The last coach was filled with charming school girls, and Mr. Gaskins couldn't resist the opportunity of being thus fortunately introduced, and he invited the ladies to "drop their mite in the contribution box." They did. One dropped 10 cents and another 2 cents.

A man named North, from Indiana, placed two 50-cent pieces in his wife's purse and then fattened the purse with a newspaper. Mr. Robber was pleased with the bulkiness of the purse, so Mrs. North kept $100 which her husband had handed her.

Mr. Mitchell, who was made president of the Lone Star Involuntary Benevolent society, passed over $2 to the man with the gun. The man asked for more. Mr. Mitchell boldly said "search me," as he threw open his coat. A $50 watch was exposed. The robber jerked it from Mr. Mitchell's coat. Four links of the chain are now in Mrs. Mitchell's purse. They will be valuable souvenirs.

The robber was traced south two miles to a creek. His trail was readily followed for it was strewn with empty purses. The guards in the park have gathered and they have been turned over to the proper authorities.

The Salt Lakers and others who were held up in the party will arrive in Salt Lake City Friday morning.

AMUSEMENTS

IN SALT LAKE THEATERS.

SALT LAKE THEATER—May Robson in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Evening, 8:15.

GRAND THEATER—"The Belle of Richmond." By the Grand Stock company. Evening, 8:15.

ORPHEUM THEATER—Advanced vaudeville. Evening, 8:15. Matinee, 2:15.

LYRIC THEATER—Camophone, moving talking pictures. Evening, 7:30. Matinee, 2:30.

Aunt Mary, dear old Aunt Mary is at the Salt Lake Theater. In the theatrical world she is known as May Robson. In the world at large her honest to goodness name is Mary Jeanette Brown. Her husband is Dr. A. H. Brown. He is a police surgeon in New York. He is a good fellow. That's why everybody likes Aunt Mary.

And why shouldn't they like her? She portrays a character of a lovable spinster. Aunt Mary is old. No, she is not old. She thinks so in the play. But those who watch her know better. She has a recipe. She gives it to the world, Aunt Mary does. It is, mingle with young people, enter into their pleasures and live those lives again with a younger generation. Aunt Mary does not worry. And, after all, if all of us did this there would be less wrinkles in face, less gray hairs, more elasticity in step, more bright eyes—indeed, a real rejuvenation. And why not always be young? Be young at 40, at 60, at 80?

It was the opening of the season of 1908-09 at the Salt Lake Theater Thursday evening, and it was a fine audience that welcomed Aunt Mary. It was an unusually appreciative audience, and the curtain calls were many. It was a delighted audience, and it was in a constant uproar of laughter, from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

And the play is a useful play. You feel better after you have seen it, for there is a moral taught, and it is taught most effectively. There is human interest in the play, for it shows the love of a woman, mother love, which in this instance is showered upon a nephew.

It will do you good to see "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." And was dramatized by the author, Anne Warner. The comedy has been left out, and the role that is given May Robson is the best one that she has ever had. And, the company is a most capable one, and to speak in praise of one is to praise all.

You should see Aunt Mary in her rejuvenation. It will do you good to see it, an evening with her. You will not only be charmed and delighted, but you will be instructed with her, just as every audience does. The "Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" will be presented at a matinee, Saturday, and the engagement will close with the performance Saturday night.

During the summer vacation the famous old playhouse has been rejuvenated also, and in its clean clothes presents a handsome appearance.

This being society night at the Orpheum the S. L. O. will likely be called into action early in the evening. The bill runs the balance of the week, with a complete change Sunday night.

A rural play, with its scenes laid back in the Yankee east, will replace "The Belle of Richmond" at the Grand for the coming week, the engagement of the latter piece closing tomorrow night. Mr. Jossey and Miss Keating will, of course, have the two leading parts in the play, as they have had in this week's production. It will be the second week of the month stock company's engagement at the Grand, and the popular favor in which the members of the company have sprung promises to be enhanced even more than has been anticipated.

Miss Emma Lucy Gates will produce a musical and historical headpiece when she appears in the Yvette Guilbert costume at her recital, September 2, in the Theatre. Satin brocade, rich enough to stand alone, as our mothers used to describe it, the dress being over one hundred years old, and owned by a member of the Wells family, priceless Florentine lace, loaned by Mrs. Priscilla Jennings; shell comb and long earrings, once the treasures of Mrs. Barrett; side curls, all her own; crinoline, and the Guilbert short white gloves, as the only covering for the hands, white arms; these details will go to make up a fascinating replica of both Yvette Guilbert and of a society belle of the French period over a hundred years ago.
